Tally On Relief,
State Issues

Serious financial situations confronted a number of cities today as a result of the election's economy wave in which Ohio voters said "no" to most proposed tax levies and bond issues.

Curtailment of relief and WPA employment were in prospect in some large cities while schools and welfare institutions suffered in others.

Salem's new city administration faces the problem of raising $12,000 for relief needs in 1940 as a result of the three-vote defeat of the one-mill relief levy.

The election board today completed the official tabulation on the relief levy, showing a final tally of 1635 against and 1632 for the levy. The figure, in each instance, gained one but the result remained the same.

The official tabulation also revealed that 14,171 voted against the county jail levy, 12,609 for it. County commissioners have begun conferences with State Fire Marshal Ray Gill in an effort to determine their future course.

The official county tally on the state issues follows:

Board of Education
Yes—9,929; No—13,841.

Bigelow Passions
Yes—6,060; No—19,996.

Bigelow Initiative
Yes—4,918; No—18,973.

Civil Service Referendum
Yes—7,232; No—14,229.

Akron, Cincinnati and Cleveland faced relief and WPA cuts and Toledo had a serious school operation crisis.

Cuyahoga county commissioners called a conference of tax league and civic leaders to decide what to do. Relief funds have been nearly exhausted but the voters turned down a relief levy and WPA project bond issues.

There will be no county funds for 65,000 statutory relief dependents after the first of the year, only state funds remaining. As many as possible of the 60,000 dependent on direct relief are being transferred to WPA as rapidly as possible.

The 31,000 now on WPA are expected to be tied over the winter by a $2,650,000 sewer project previously arranged.

In Tough Spot
Cincinnati officials said the city "may be in a tough spot unless council can find appropriate money to keep labor going."

There the voters rejected four bond issues, including $5,000,000 for street improvements.

Charles P. Taft, chairman of the Cincinnati council finance committee said, however, that the city operates a year ahead so the pinch may not be felt before next August when some proposals may be re-submitted to vote.

Akron officials feared a layoff of 8,000 of Summit county's 10,000 WPA workers was threatened. Three officials went to Washington and one to Columbus to try for help.

Akron's situation was somewhat relieved, however, by passage of a 2½-mill relief levy, although bond issues of $5,200,000 were defeated. The school board contemplated issuing its own bonds on operating funds which would cut pay for teachers.

A notman returned yesterday from Munich, where he attended the celebration of the 1923 Putsch anniversary and narrowly escaped being caught in the blast which wrecked the historic Buergebrau cellar.

Police dug piece by piece through debris nine feet deep searching for telltale fingerprints and metal scraps in the wrecked Nazi shrine and held an undisclosed number of persons, at least on suspicion.

Authorities were convinced that experts set the time bomb intended for Hitler.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Roosevelt said today that transfer of eight United States
Line vessels to foreign registry would be legal, but that the question of whether to permit it still was being studied from a human as well as a property angle.

Discussing at his press conference the situation created for the nation's north Atlantic sea lines as a result of shipping restrictions of the neutrality act, Mr. Roosevelt also reported that he would recommend to congress that seamen thrown out of work be placed under the social security program to receive old age pensions and unemployment insurance benefits.

The neutrality act forbids American ships to visit belligerent ports.

Studies Training Place
The President said he would discuss with maritime labor leaders during the day the prospects of working out with the maritime commission a project to give training under commissioned officers to officers and seamen thrown out of work. They would be paid by the government during such training.

Mr. Roosevelt said he also was considering use of the 25 to 35 American flag ships taken out of the north Atlantic trade in fetching materials the government is purchasing under a $10,000,000 appropriation for a reserve of strategic war supplies.

In this connection he referred to the agreement with Great Britain to exchange American cotton for British rubber and tin. American ships, now idle, may be used to bring the rubber and tin back from the East Indies while the British ships carry American cotton back to the British Isles.

Tot Born With Two
Heads; One Removed;
Gets 'Along Nicely'

KINGSPORT, Tenn., Nov. 10.—A baby boy born Oct. 17 with two heads, one of which was later removed, "is coming along nicely" and may develop into a normal youngster, Dr. J. C. Statzer, Bristol, Tenn., physician, reported today.

Dr. Statzer said the baby weighed nine pounds at birth and had a second, abnormal head at the base of the normal head.

"I had the outline of a head with eyes, nose, mouth and hair but no ears," the physician declared.

Dr. Statzer, with a record of 3,500 deliveries in 35 years of practice, asserted he could not recall a similar case in medical history. He said he had made a careful study of the case before performing the operation.

The physician reported he first amputated the abnormal head and several days later removed the neck, leaving a small wound. He expressed the opinion the child would grow over the scar, eventually, making it unnoticeable.

"I am uncertain about the child's future," he declared. "At present the child is normal in every respect, but another operation may be necessary later."

Parents of the baby are a tenant farm couple of the Indian Springs community, eight miles from here. The mother previously had given birth to three normal babies.

Soldiers Who Welcomed Armistice In 1918
Now Sending Their "Kids" Into New Conflict

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Tomorrow is the anniversary of one of mankind's greatest days—the World War armistice.

That marked the finish of a war in which half the population of the globe had fought to "end all wars." Sixteen empires and nations had mobilized sixty million troops, and left eight millions of them dead. Twenty millions more had been wounded, many of them horribly maimed.

The cost in money and in property destroyed had been set at $258,000,000,000.

And then the eleventh hour, and sudden silence and peace. The war to end war was over.

I made my way in the uncanny quiet along a sector of the British battle front in Flanders, where a few moments before great guns had been belching out their hate. A British Tommy came along and swung into a salute, with a click of the muddy heels of his worn boots.

"Beg pardon, sir," he said, and his eyes gleamed with hope, "but could you tell me what this 'ere army-stice is? Does it mean the war is ended?"

I assured him this was so. He stood looking at me unbelieving for a moment and then, with another salute and a "Thank you, sir," he started down the road on the run.

"Ho, Bill," he yelled to a comrade. "The ruddy war is over! Do you 'ear me, Bill—the war is over! Oh, blimey, but him 'goin' back 'ome to blighty (London) to my old woman and the kids."

Now Armistice day again. Tommy and his old woman have sent their "kids" across the channel to France to fight another war to "end all wars."

could you tell me what this 'ere army-stice is? Does it mean the war is ended?"

I assured him this was so. He stood looking at me unbelieving for a moment and then, with another salute and a "Thank you, sir," he started down the road on the run.

"Ho, Bill," he yelled to a comrade. "The ruddy war is over! Do you 'ear me, Bill—the war is over! Oh, bilmeby, but him goin' back 'ome to blighly (London) to my old woman and the kids."

Now Armistice day again. Tommy and his old woman have sent their "kids" across the channel to France to fight another war to "end all wars."

Same Old Story
The same old story—another conflict, like the last, can't settle anything excepting the fate of a lot of soldier lads.

However, despite the fact that all the peoples of Europe recognize the futility of this war, and are praying for escape from the catastrophe which fast is overspreading the old world, the belligerent governments haven't yet warmed up much to the Belgian-Dutch mediation offer.

British Premier Chamberlain said yesterday he thought "stiff necked" German leaders who "speak no language but that of force" would turn down the peace overtures. And the Nazis assert that British imperialism, intent on war, already has kicked the offer out the door.

However, while things don't look too bright, nobody has rejected the proposal officially. The king of the Belgians and the queen of the Netherlands got welcome support yesterday when King Carol of Rumania added his plea for peace to theirs.

Certainly the Dutch and Belgian rulers have the high regard of all the belligerents. There are some observers who think that if more weight were thrown quickly on the scale of mediation, it might have a fighting chance.

Question of Permitting Action

Idle Ships May Be Used
In Trade Agreement
With Britain

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Roosevelt said today that transfer of eight United States Line vessels to foreign registry would be legal, but that the question of whether to permit it still was being studied from a human as well as a property angle.

Discussing at his press conference the situation created for the nation's north Atlantic sea lanes as a result of shipping restrictions of the neutrality act, Mr. Roosevelt also reported that he would recommend to congress that seamen thrown out of work be placed under the social security program to receive old age pensions and unemployment insurance benefits.

The neutrality act forbids American ships to visit belligerent ports. Studies Training Place

The President said he would discuss with maritime labor leaders during the day the prospects of working out with the maritime commission a project to give training under commissioned officers to officers and seamen thrown out of work. They would be paid by the government during such training.

Mr. Roosevelt said he also was considering use of the 25 to 35 American flag ships taken out of the north Atlantic trade in fetching materials the government is purchasing under a $10,000,000 appropriation for a reserve of strategic war supplies.

In this connection he referred to the agreement with Great Britain to exchange American cotton for British rubber and tin. American ships, now idle, may be used to bring the rubber and tin back from the East Indies while the British ships carry American cotton back to the British Isles.

Tot Born With Two
Heads; One Removed;
Gets 'Along Nicely'

KINGSFORD, Tenn., Nov. 10.—A baby boy born Oct. 17 with two heads, one of which was later removed, is "coming along nicely" and may develop into a normal youngster, Dr. J. C. Statzer, Bristol, Tenn., physician, reported today.

Dr. Statzer said the baby weighed nine pounds at birth and had a second, abnormal head at the base of the normal head.

"It had the outline of a head with eyes, nose, mouth and hair but no ears," the physician declared.

Dr. Statzer, with a record of 3,500 deliveries in 35 years of practice, asserted he could not recall a similar case in medical history. He said he had made a careful study of the case before performing the operation.

The physician reported he first amputated the abnormal head and several days later removed the neck, leaving a small wound. He expressed the opinion hair would grow over the scar, eventually, making it unnoticeable.

"I am uncertain about the child's future," he declared. "At present the child is normal in every respect, but another operation may be necessary later."

Parents of the baby are a tenant farm couple of the Indian Springs community, eight miles from here. The mother, previously, had given birth to three normal babies.

THOSE TOPHEAVY MAJORITIES

Ohio and California are pointing with pride to tophheavy majorities of three to one and two to one, respectively, in defeating pension plans. This was more than alarmists expected; the California plan was given a good chance to win by many election forecasters.

But the pointing with pride also calls attention to the fact that in California one voter in every group of three last Tuesday approved a scheme of financial hocus-pocus to pay pensions based on nothing but desire. In Ohio one voter in every group of four had the same idea.

Furthermore, in both states backers of the schemes are threatening to get back on the ballot next year with similar proposals. It mustn't be forgotten, either, that last year California elected a senator and governor on a ham-and-eggs platform, or that the name Bigelow has been made a potential factor in Ohio politics.

The problem of keeping what may be called the pension minority from exercising undue political influence is genuine and real. Its members must be helped to regain a sense of social responsibility, a situation foreseen by the founding fathers when they warned against the perils of popular government in a country with an unwieldy minority of disgruntled citizens recognizing no obligation to help conserve national resources.

In brief, old age is something America must deal with realistically—not old age simply as a matter of years, but as a condition of existence. Discontent is being exploited cynically for political purposes. It will continue to be so until constructive alternatives are made more attractive than assorted screwball schemes to administer kill or cure jolts of money magic.

NOT ONE PARTY, THAT'S CERTAIN

Straw-sucking dopesters and second guessers are having their troubles digesting Tuesday's election results. It's as though they'd been confronted with a cat built like a squirrel; there it is but there's something squirrely about it.

Last year at this time it looked as if the pendulum had started to swing back to the Republican party after having swung all the way to the Democratic party in 1936. According to soothsayers it would keep on whirling till it came to the Republican end of the arc in 1940, or thereabouts. Ohio was typical.

This, dopesters explained, was the two-party system in operation. To be sure, Franklin D. Roosevelt said it was only the result of a lot of local upsets from assorted minor causes, but that opinion was ascribed to the President's wishful thinking—even by many members of his own party.

On Tuesday, Republicans had difficulty maintaining advantages gained in 1938. They did well in Ohio on the whole, but suffered numerous disappointments and had a good many tight squeezes. The pendulum didn't stop swinging, but merely failed to gain the momentum it was expected to gain. The net result was to sober the expectations of Republicans concerning 1940, while lifting the hopes of Democrats.

In one way or another this, too, is the two-party system in operation. Certainly it proves there's no immediate prospect of a one-party system, such as Republicans feared in the years after 1932 and Democrats feared after the Republican revival in 1938. Plainly, both parties are full of vim and vigor, a condition with vital bearing on the coming national election.

PEACE, OR ELSE

The prestige of the Netherlands and Belgium as neutrals commands attention when their rulers propose peace. But there's something fishy about their current peace appeal. It must be noted that simultaneously Belgium mustered its reserves and prepared the civilian population for air raids, confirming the suspicion that for the two neutrals it has become a proposition of "peace, or else."

The "or else" likely would be invasion by the German army in a flanking movement past the Maginot line. If successful, this would place Hitler's army in French territory, besides moving Germany's war frontier west of the Rhine, where England could be threatened not only by quick bombing forays but by long-range artillery bombardments as it was during part of the World war.

It is a characteristic of this war that the assumption of invasion invariably must be made at Germany's expense. It would be just as feasible for the French and British armies to march eastward through neutral Holland and Belgium as for the German army to march westward, yet invasion by the Allies is not considered a possibility. Certainly, it is not the reason why the monarchs of the two countries have made a last-minute desperate appeal for peace to save their neutrality.

ENOUGH TO SINK A BATTLESHIP

The new war will leave the United States with the world's largest navy. A bill requiring about $1,300,000,000 for naval operation will be introduced in congress when the next session convenes. This will compare with an all-time high of $2,002,310,000 in 1919 and a post-war low of $238,950,000 in 1934.

Scope of the bill is indicated by the fact it will call for construction of no less than 95 combatant ships, 600 fighting airplanes, 36 lighter-than-air ships and 21 auxiliary vessels. It would mark a record-breaking expansion in naval equipment not only for the United States but for naval powers in general.

Most important thing about the proposal from the viewpoint of the citizens of the United States is that it will be presented as a national necessity. "It is the duty of congress to provide it," explains Rep. Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs. It will be the duty of congress, also, to inquire into the identity of the enemy who is going to be fought with the navy—"adequate to meet any possible national defense need"—but perhaps that will be plainer earlier in 1940 than it is late in 1939.

WAR STYLES

Now that a clever fellow has designed bed clothes that can be slipped on and worn to the nearest air raid shelter, the clothing handicap has been surmounted. A few things still remain to be done.

Humans should be fixed up with gills as well as lungs, for use in gas attacks, and the ability to dig themselves a hole in the ground to sneak into—preferably one they could pull in after them, for complete safety when the enemy arrives.

When that happens, the world of tomorrow will be almost as foolproof as the world of yesterday.

Ward F. Cobedash of Salem, employed at the plant of the Forde Light Co., is the inventor of a new brazing burner for the use of either natural or artificial gas, which promises to fill a long felt need in shops where much brazing is done. This new tool can be manufactured in quantities for 30 or 40 cents. Mr. Cobedash made application for a patent last October and last week received his final patent papers. He has already received several offers from manufacturers who are willing to either buy the patent outright or manufacture the burners on a commission basis.

Harold Blackburn, who is traveling through Northern Ohio, selling novelty goods, is spending a few days with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Blackburn.

William Gabriel has resigned his position at the Taylor grocery and will be in the employ of the Co-operative delivery.

Announcement was made this morning of the purchase of sites for the construction of two buildings which will mean a great improvement to the city. One was for the site of the Memorial building, the gift of W. H. Mullins, and the other was the purchase of three lots on McKinley ave. by the Masonic bodies for the erection of a Masonic temple. The site for the Memorial is on the south side of McKinley ave., and includes two lots west of the Carnegie library, and the Charles Johnson property.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, November 11

A DIFFICULT day, with indications of predispositions to invite adverse and regrettable situations through indulgence in violent, passionate and un-governed conduct or impetuosity, is forecast. Quarrels, turbulence and self-indulgence of various kinds invite to definite dangers and reprisals. Tact, diplomacy and stratagem may avert disagreeable denouements. There are hazards in journeys, changes, removals and other sudden acts. Let restraint rule.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of adverse and difficult circumstances, mainly through indulgence of their own reckless, passionate and impetuous conduct, ignited from within by inflammatory forces and irrepressible faculties. These should be diverted into creative channels by self-restraint, moderation in act and speech. Turn away invited wrath by kindness, tact and strategy. Beware of dangers in change and travel.

A child born on this day may be excitable, passionate, ill-governed, self-centered and self-indulgent, unless its creative energies are turned into constructive channels by early discipline and training.

Political progress of small nations since the World War; Woodrow Wilson offered them self-determination, Adolf Hitler gave them self-extermination and now Josef Stalin grants them self-cominternation—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

At long last, the Blarney stone has been kissed by our Jim Farley. It must have been a stimulating experience for both.

Dr. Clendening Discourses
On The Question Of Twins

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MAN, or I suppose I should say woman, is one of the few animals that ordinarily and habitually have a litter of little ones. But this rule is sometimes bent and occasionally smashed to bits.

A young friend of mine, who had just completed his medical education and graduated from two years in a hospital, decided to settle in a small town in Kansas. He landed there at 8 p. m. of a hot July night and went to the home of his sister. A man was waiting for him on the porch. Waiting is sort of a weak word to describe his condition because he was about to become a father. My young doctor friend accompanied him home and had his first experience as a full-fledged doctor. This first patient bore a set of twins—the first he had ever seen; and I am happy to state that he acquitted himself beautifully, saving all four persons involved.

There has come to my desk a most portentous monograph on the number of twins they have had at Johns Hopkins Hospital in the 40 years of its existence. The total number of twin deliveries was 521—one out of every 80 deliveries.

The age of the mothers was, on the average, between 20 and 25. The diagnosis of the possibility of twins was missed in a third at so ultra a place as Johns Hopkins, don't blame your neighborhood doctor if he springs a little surprise on you. The chances of making the diagnosis are better if one twin weighs more than the other. I don't know why, but statistics show that.

Twins usually weigh a little less than single babies, naturally. Usually one twin is heavier, and in a large series the heavy twin weighed seven and one-half pounds, which is not very far off the average.

The prospective mother is in a little more danger from the ordinary course of events, such as the toxemias of pregnancy, but she gets it over sooner. A twin pregnancy is two and a half weeks shorter than a single one.

My own experience with twins has been quite extensive. In a long and brilliant career as an obstetrician, I had one case. The woman was newly married and told me that she wanted, expected and was determined to have nine children. When I told her that her initial effort was twins, her only comment was, "one year saved."

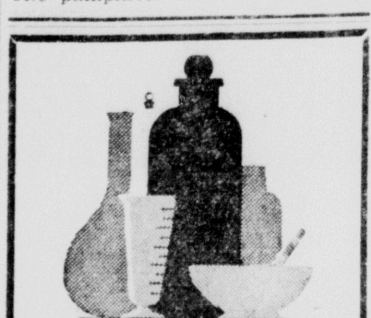

I find that parents, far from being appalled at the advent of twins, are delighted. And it must be admitted that twins are very cute. The father has to take a little more kidding than ordinarily, but then, think of poor Mr. Dionne!

THOSE TOPHEAVY MAJORITIES

Ohio and California are pointing with pride to topeheavy majorities of three to one and two to one, respectively, in defeating pension plans. This was more than alarmists expected; the California plan was given a good chance to win by many election forecasters.

But the pointing with pride also calls attention to the fact that in California one voter in every group of three last Tuesday approved a scheme of financial hocus-pocus to pay pensions based on nothing but desire. In Ohio one voter in every group of four had the same idea.

Furthermore, in both states backers of the schemes are threatening to get back on the ballot next year with similar proposals. It mustn't be forgotten, either, that last year California elected a senator and governor on a ham-and-eggs platform, or that the name Bigelow has been made a potential factor in Ohio politics.

The problem of keeping what may be called the pension minority from exercising undue political influence is genuine and real. Its members must be helped to regain a sense of social responsibility, a situation foreseen by the founding fathers when they warned against the perils of popular government in a country with an unwieldy minority of disgruntled citizens recognizing no obligation to help conserve national resources.

In brief, old age is something America must deal with realistically—not old age simply as a matter of years, but as a condition of existence. Discontent is being exploited cynically for political purposes. It will continue to be so until constructive alternatives are made more attractive than assorted screwball schemes to administer kill or cure jolts of money magic.

Straw-sucking dopesters and second guessers are having their troubles digesting Tuesday's election results. It's as though they'd been confronted with a cat built like a squirrel; there it is but there's something squirrely about it.

Last year at this time it looked as if the pendulum had started to swing back to the Republican party after having swung all the way to the Democratic party in 1936. According to soothsayers it would keep on swinging till it came to the Republican end of the arc in 1940, or thereabouts. Ohio was typical.

This, dopesters explained, was the two-party system in operation. To be sure, Franklin D. Roosevelt said it was only the result of a lot of local upsets from assorted minor causes, but that opinion was ascribed to the President's wishful thinking—even by many members of his own party.

On Tuesday, Republicans had difficulty maintaining advantages gained in 1938. They did well in Ohio on the whole, but suffered numerous disappointments and had a good many tight squeezes. The pendulum didn't stop swinging, but merely failed to gain the momentum it was expected to gain. The net result was to sober the expectations of Republicans concerning 1940, while lifting the hopes of Democrats.

In one way or another this, too, is the two-party system in operation. Certainly it proves there's no immediate prospect of a one-party system, such as Republicans feared in the years after 1932 and Democrats feared after the Republican revival in 1938. Plainly, both parties are full of vim and vigor, a condition with vital bearing on the coming national election.

PEACE, OR ELSE

The prestige of the Netherlands and Belgium as neutrals commands attention when their rulers propose peace. But there's something fishy about their current peace appeal. It must be noted that simultaneously Belgium mustered its reserves and prepared the civilian population for air raids, confirming the suspicion that for the two neutrals it has become a proposition of "peace, or else."

The "or else" likely would be invasion by the German army in a flanking movement past the Maginot line. If successful, this would place Hitler's army in French territory, besides moving Germany's war frontier west of the Rhine, where England could be threatened not only by quick bombing forays but by long-range artillery bombardments as it was during part of the World war.

It is a characteristic of this war that the assumption of invasion invariably must be made at Germany's expense. It would be just as feasible for the French and British armies to march eastward through neutral Holland and Belgium as for the German army to march westward, yet invasion by the Allies is not considered a possibility. Certainly, it is not the reason why the monarchs of the two countries have made a last-minute desperate appeal for peace to save their neutrality.

ENOUGH TO SINK A BATTLESHIP

The new war will leave the United States with the world's largest navy. A bill requiring about $1,300,000,000 for naval operation will be introduced in congress when the next session convenes. This will compare with an all-time high of $2,002,310,000 in 1919 and a post-war low of $238,950,000 in 1934.

Scope of the bill is indicated by the fact it will call for construction of no less than 95 combatant ships, 600 fighting airplanes, 36 lighter-than-air ships, and 21 auxiliary vessels. It would mark a record-breaking expansion in naval equipment not only for the United States but for naval powers in general.

Most important thing about the proposal from the viewpoint of the citizens of the United States is that it will be presented as a national necessity. "It is the duty of congress to provide it," explains Rep. Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs. It will be the duty of congress, also, to inquire into the identity of the enemy who is going to be fought with the navy—"adequate to meet any possible national defense need"—but perhaps that will be plainer earlier in 1940 than it is late in 1939.

WAR STYLES

Now that a clever fellow has designed bed clothes that can be slipped on and worn to the nearest air raid shelter, the clothing handicap has been surmounted. A few things still remain to be done.

Humans should be fixed up with gills as well as lungs, for use in gas attacks, and the ability to dig themselves a hole in the ground to sneak into—preferably one they could pull in after them, for complete safety when the enemy arrives.

When that happens, the world of tomorrow will be almost as foolproof as the world of yesterday.

Cobedash of Salem, employed at the plant of the Ford Light Co., is the inventor of a new brazing burner for the use of either natural or artificial gas, which promises to fill a long felt need in shops where much brazing is done. This new tool can be manufactured in quantities for 30 or 40 cents. Mr. Cobedash made application for a patent last October and last week received his final patent papers. He has already received several offers from manufacturers who are willing to either buy the patent outright or manufacture the burners on a commission basis.

Announcement was made this morning of the purchase of sites for the construction of two buildings which will mean a great improvement to the city. One was for the site of the Memorial building, the gift of W. H. Mullins, and the other was the purchase of three lots on McKinley ave. by the Masonic bodies for the erection of a Masonic temple. The site for the Memorial is on the south side of McKinley ave., and includes two lots west of the Carnegie library, and the Charles Johnson property.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, November 11

A DIFFICULT day, with indications of predispositions to invite adverse and regrettable situations through indulgence in violent, passionate and un-governed conduct or impetuosity, is forecast. Quarrels, turbulence and self-indulgence of various kinds incite to definite dangers and reprisals. Tact, diplomacy and stratagem may avert disagreeable denouements. There are hazards in journeys, changes, removals and other sudden acts. Let restraint rule.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of adverse and difficult circumstances, mainly through indulgence of their own reckless, passionate and intemperate conduct, ignited from within by inflammatory forces and irrepressible faculties. These should be diverted into creative channels by self-restraint, moderation in act and speech. Turn away invited wrath by kindness, tact and strategy. Beware of dangers in change and travel.

A child born on this day may be excitable, passionate, ill-governed, self-centered and self-indulgent, unless its creative energies are turned into constructive channels by early discipline and training.

Political progress of small nations since the World War; Woodrow Wilson offered them self-determination. Adolf Hitler gave them self-extermination and now Josef Stalin grants them self-cometation.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

At long last, the Blarney stone has been kissed by our Jim Farley. It must have been a stimulating experience for both.

Dr. Clendening Discourses On The Question Of Twins

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MAN, or I suppose I should say woman, is one of the few animals that ordinarily and habitually have a litter of little ones. But this rule is sometimes bent and occasionally smashed to bits.

A young friend of mine, who had just completed his medical education and graduated from two years in a hospital, decided to settle in a small town in Kansas. He landed there at 8 p. m. of a hot July night and went to the home of his sister. A man was waiting for him on the porch. Waiting is sort of a weak word to describe his condition because he was about to become a father. My young doctor friend accompanied him home and had his first experience as a full-fledged doctor. This first patient bore a set of twins—the first he had ever seen; and I am happy to state that he acquitted himself beautifully, saving all four persons involved.

There has come to my desk a most portentous monograph on the number of twins they have had at Johns Hopkins Hospital in the 40 years of its existence. The total number of twin deliveries was 521—one out of every 80 deliveries. The age of the mothers was, on the average, between 20 and 25. The diagnosis of the possibility of twins was missed in a third at so ultra a place as Johns Hopkins, don't blame your neighborhood doctor if he springs a little surprise on you.

The chances of making the diagnosis are better if one twin weighs more than the other. I don't know why, but statistics show that.

Twins usually weight a little less than single babies, naturally. Usually one twin is heavier, and in a large series the heavy twin weighed seven and one-half pounds, which is not very far off the average.

The prospective mother is in a little more danger from the ordinary course of events, such as the toxemias of pregnancy, but she gets it over sooner. A twin pregnancy is two and a half weeks shorter than a single one.

My own experience with twins has been quite extensive. In a long and brilliant career as an obstetrician, I had one case. The woman was newly married and told me that she wanted, expected and was determined to have nine children. When I told her that her initial effort was twins, her only comment was, "one year saved."

I find that parents, far from being appalled at the advent of twins, are delighted. And it must be admitted that twins are very cute. The father has to take a little more kidding than ordinarily, but then, think of poor Mr. Dionne!

Officials canvassed the whole nation for information that might lead to the assassins who set off the explosion in which six men and a woman were killed and 63 other persons injured.

Nazi suspicions turned toward the British secret service and Jews, but searchers hunted at home and abroad for clues that might fix the blame for the blast which missed the Fuehrer by only 11 minutes Wednesday night.

Listen For Comments

Germans who heard a broadcast of the Fuehrer's address at the beer hall celebration of the 1923 Nazi putsch were asked to report any radio listeners who might have commented, "nothing happened" or who asked, "why did the Fuehrer speak so briefly?" he spoke for 58 minutes.

In addition to a reward of 600,000 marks ($240,000) offered earlier for aid in tracking down the perpetrators, Heinrich Himmler, chief of all Nazi police, offered 300,000 marks ($120,000) to any abroad who supplied information leading to the arrest of the guilty person or persons.

Hitler's only comment when he heard of the explosion was "A fellow has to have luck"—Glueck muss der mensch haben.

To many Nazis, it was a "miracle" that urgent state business broke up the annual celebration ahead of schedule, and that Hitler and some of the highest ranking Nazis had left unharmed.

Listen For Comments

Germans who heard a broadcast of the fuhrer's address at the beer hall celebration of the 1923 Nazi putsch were asked to report any radio listeners who might have commented, "nothing happened," or who asked, "why did the fuhrer speak so briefly?" he spoke for 58 minutes.

In addition to a reward of 600,000 marks ($240,000) offered earlier for aid in tracking down the perpetrators, Heinrich Himmler, chief of all Nazi police, offered 300,000 marks ($120,000) to any abroad who supplied information leading to the arrest of the guilty person or persons.

Hitler's only comment when he heard of the explosion was "A fellow has to have luck"—Glueck muss der mensch haben.

Gentlemen Stop This Guessing!

There is much talk about tremendous price rises in both woolen and cotton wearing apparel—It is true that there has been a rise in woollens as high as 75c a yard and some cotton piece goods have gone up 20%, and leathers are up over 30%, however, we are using this space to put before you our policy for the months to come. All of our Fall and Winter merchandise is IN and PAID FOR. Due to early summer purchases we were able to buy practically everything at the same prices as the preceding year, and in some instances for less money.

To carry out our Statement, we are printing below NATIONALLY ADVERTISED MERCHANDISE which we take pride in selling with last year's price and this year's price as comparison.

In conclusion, Gentlemen, BUY NATIONALLY ADVERTISED MERCHANDISE, merchandise you see before you daily in every magazine and newspaper — merchandise that you know will be made right by the dealer or the manufacturer. In plain English — Don't buy a cat in a bag!

So, Gentlemen, STOP YOUR GUESSING!! Come in and see us and we assure you that whether you come in tomorrow or the last day in December, the price will not have gone up on anything.

BONDED DEBT REPORT ISSUED

Over Two Million Total For County Reported By Auditor

LISBON, Nov. 10.—The bonded indebtedness of all taxing districts in Columbiana county, as of Jan. 1, 1940, will be $2,376,719.94 according to a report released by County Auditor Ross Taher. Following the semi-annual tax settlement to cities, villages and school districts, through which the bonds are required.

The greater portion of the indebtedness is owed by cities and villages whose bonded indebtedness totals $1,428,883.28, while bonds still owing by the school districts amount to $947,835.66. In addition, Columbiana county has a bonded debt of $353,250, of which $317,250 was in relief bonds, and $36,000 in bonds issued by the county inside limitations.

East Liverpool has the largest debt of the municipal corporations.

Catholic Daughters Plan Dinner

Catholic Daughters of America, at a meeting last night in the K. of C. hall, completed plans for a covered dinner to be held at home of Mrs. Edwin Probert, S. Union ave., at 1 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 30.—After the dinner, the group will see for the Salem City hospital.

Several members are going to Massillon on Nov. 12 for an initiation and dinner.

Plans were also completed for a benefit card party tonight in the K. of C. hall.

Following the business meeting, a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. Edwin Dungan was winner of the bridge prize. Mrs. Earl Yeager won the "500" prize and Mrs. Dominic DeRienzo won the Chinese checker prize.

Lunch was served after the meeting.

with a total of $729,396.08, of which $264,890.08 is inside limitations, $35,000 in bonds voted by citizens, $14,000 in assessments, and $355,506 in water works bonds. Salem's bonded debt was next highest with $342,990, $218,000 of which was issued by the city and $98,000 voted outside limitations, and $26,990 in assessments.

The bonded indebtedness of other cities and villages of the county is as follows: Wellsville, $215,870; East Palestine, $64,350; Columbiana, $5,000; Lisbon, $49,253.30; Leetonia, $18,000; Salineville, $4,120.

The Salem school district has the largest bonded indebtedness of the 18 districts in the county, having a total of $195,600, while East Liverpool school district is second with $154,500.

The increase in the Salem school district's indebtedness is due to the recent $55,000 issue for a new addition to Salem High school. The Salem and East Liverpool bond figures are higher, too, because they are much larger districts than the other in the county.

Others are as follows: East Palestine, $122,000; Leetonia, $87,420; Salineville, $65,000; Columbiana, $57,750; Lisbon, $49,800; Wellsville, $46,315.69; Fairfield township, $44,890; New Waterford, $44,150; Yellow Creek, $43,200; Unity township, $24,600; Summitville, $7,000; Western Rural, $2,000; Center township, $1,300; Washington township, $800; Franklin township, $480; and Kensington, $320.

Following the business meeting, a social time was enjoyed. Mrs. Edwin Deagan was winner of the bridge prize. Mrs. Earl Yeager won the "500" prize and Mrs. Dominic DeRienzo won the Chinese checker prize.

Lunch was served after the meeting.

with a total of $729,396.08, of which $264,890.08 is inside limitations, $55,000 in bonds voted by citizens, $14,000 in assessments, and $395,500 in water works bonds. Salem's bonded debt was next highest with $342,990, $218,000 of which was issued by the city and $98,000 voted outside limitations, and $26,000 in assessments.

The bonded indebtedness of other cities and villages of the county is as follows: Wellsville, $215,870; East Palestine, $64,350; Columbiana, $5,000; Lisbon, $49,253.30; Leetonia, $18,000; Sallenville, $4,120.

The Salem school district has the largest bonded indebtedness of the 18 districts in the county, having a total of $195,600, while East Liverpool school district is second with $154,500.

The increase in the Salem school district's indebtedness is due to the recent $55,000 issue for a new addition to Salem High school. The Salem and East Liverpool bond figures are higher, too, because they are much larger districts than the other in the county.

Others are as follows: East Palestine, $122,000; Leetonia, $87,420; Sallenville, $65,000; Columbiana, $57,750; Lisbon, $49,800; Wellsville, $46,315.66; Fairfield township, $44,825; New Waterford, $44,150; Yellow Creek, $43,200; Unity township, $24,800; Summitville, $7,000; Western Rural, $2,600; Center township, $1,300; Washington township, $800; Franklin township, $480; and Kensington, $320.

Columbiana Post Members and Auxiliary Have Program

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 10.—Columbiana American Legionnaires were guests Thursday evening of the Ladies auxiliary of Benjamin Firestone post at an Armistice party at pavilion No. 2, Firestone park.

Games and contests were enjoyed and a tempting lunch was served.

At the post meeting Wednesday evening it was decided to sponsor the annual Ohio department essay contest in the Columbiana and Fairfield schools. Eight bronze medals will be given to winners in the 9th, 10th 11th and 12th grades.

This year's subject is "The Bill of Rights—My Protection."

Post Commander Russell Beck announced his appointments for the year as follows: Service officer, B. C. Culp; child welfare officer, J. J. Martin; Americanism chairman, C. W. Spott; junior activities chairman, A. M. McLaughlin, Jr.; Sons of the Legion W. B. Treadwell; publicity, L. E. Holloway.

Mrs. Charles Moser was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening when a group of friends called to remind her of her birthday. Two cakes of bridge were in play, after which lunch was served. The honor was presented a gift.

Supt. Lowell Giffen presided when members of the Sunday school board of the Presbyterian church met at the church last night. Plans for the winter program of the Sunday school were discussed.

meet Monday to decide on three alternatives as a result of defeat of a four-mill school tax levy.
These are: Close the schools until a deficit is made up, curtail salaries of 1,400 employees, or trim the entire school program to available income.

Franklin county defeated levies for relief and welfare and, as result, will be short of funds for the tuberculosis hospital and the new detention home opened less than a year ago.

Warren and Trumbull county were in a quandary over relief.
Trumbull county defeated a relief levy in a special election. The county commissioners then turned the administration over to the city.
But city voters defeated the levy again in the general election. These funds were to have been used in matching state grants.

Warren also turned down the large Trumbull homes slum elimination project which would have furnished much WPA employment.
Massillon faced possible curtailment of the school term because of defeat of a levy in the face of a probable deficit of $90,000. City officials also feared closing of the local relief station after defeat of a relief levy.

Relief levies also were defeated
in Springfield, Lima, Cambridge, East Liverpool, Athens county and Harrison county.

County Road Jobs Near Completion

LISBON, Nov. 10.—George Weinberg, county WPA project engineer, announced today several road projects in the county are nearing completion, including the Winona-
Salem road, which has been widened from 10 feet to 18 and to a two-inch bituminous top applied for a distance of one mile, extending from the Winona village limits

northward to State Route 9.
A two-mile section of the Winona-Depot road, and a two-mile stretch of the Pancake road in Middleton township will be treated with an asphalt preparation within the next week, and it is planned to place a two-inch black top on the eight-inch stone base of the Tee-
garden-Depot road.
It is also planned to place an eight-inch slag base on the Guilford-Teegarden-New Garden road,
and on the Salineville-Monroeville road. A four-inch slag base will also be placed on the Calcutta-Bell School road, all of which is being done with a view to other future
surfacing of these roads.

terg, county WPA project engineer,
announced today several road projects in the county are nearing
completion, including the Winona-
Salem road, which has been widened from 16 feet to 18 and to a two-inch bituminous top applied for a distance of one mile, extending

from the Winona village limits
northward to State Route 9.
A two-mile section of the Winona-Depot road, and a two-mile
stretch of the Pancake road in Middleton township will be treated with an asphalt preparation within the next week, and it is planned to place a two-inch black top on the
eight-inch stone base of the Tee-
garden-Depot road.

It is also planned to place an
eight-inch slag base on the Guilford-Teegarden-New Garden road,
and on the Salineville-Monroeville road. A four-inch slag base will also be placed on the Calcutta-Bell
School road, all of which is being done with a view to other future
surfacing of these roads.

The action and adventure which have come to be a highlight of every Gary Cooper film are conspicuous in "The Real Glory", which shows at the State tonight and Saturday.

Cooper, as an American doctor, goes to the Philippine Islands for medical experience and becomes involved in the chaos and religious fanaticism which reigned in the islands after the close of the Spanish American war.

His partner in the adventure and his rival in romance is David Niven. Andrea Leeds has the role of the girl who follows her doctor sweetheart to the islands and is endangered in the struggles between the native tribes and the island troops of the U. S. army. Romance and action blend well in the picture to provide better than average film entertainment.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK. Cal.—Chief Lemme of the Yosemite Indians has undertaken to save the U. S. He bases his prediction on the yellowjackets, of which there are many; on the field mice of which there are lots; and on the squirrels of which there are more.

Quakers Stress Deception In Practice For Barborton Tilt

School Gridders Polish Up Tricks For Visitors; Tough Battle Is Expected

Schroeder Emphasizes, However, Quakers Will Have To Tighten Up Midfield Defense In Order To Get Best Offensive Results

You can fool some of the people all the time, and all of the people some of the time, etc. Of course it wasn't a football coach who contributed this astute observation to posterity, but even gridiron coaches and their pupils can profit. Salem High school gridders fooled the Barborton team last Friday night on the frost encrusted turf at Crater stadium down Dover way and came back with a victory.

It is entirely possible that the hard fighting Quakers even surprised themselves on that occasion because they haven't been using much of this type of game.

Deception Stressed
As a result, tactics which aim to combine deception with power have been the order of the day, every day, in fact, during the present week in practice sessions here as Coach Schroeder preps his squad for what looms as a difficult contest with Barborton at Reilly stadium Saturday afternoon. The starting time is 2:30.

The Quakers, winning from Barborton, executed an end-around touchdown play that left little to be desired. They've played the end-around before of course, but it's not exactly the play itself, always it's the way they handle it.

"Bustin'! Buster Wukotich kept hammering away at the line most of the night, but it wasn't paying off. When the going got tough down near the goal line, the Dover team, as virtually every other team has done, ganged up around the middle of the line and the 'bustin' didn't yield very good results.

Well, on this touchdown play Wukotich, all huddled up, went straight into the center of the line just as though he meant it, and they banged him.

In the meantime, End Bob Shes was caving about on the greenward off in the right hand corner of the field with the signal lights all green. Those six points were easy, indicating that very often the efficient use of grey matter is much more effective than nothing but bone and muscle.

Passes Worked Well
The Quakers also executed several mighty nice buck passes, short passes across the line, good for 6 to 8 yards at a clip. They were well handled and indicated that, figured as a part of the offensive, they should be a very potent weapon in running up first downs.

Coach Schroeder also stressed midfield defense this week. The Quaker line has been pretty much of a stone wall down near the goal line when the opposition started hammering for touchdowns, but it has had sieve-like qualities in the mid-field defense.

As a result, they've found themselves backed up on their haunches against their own goal posts on occasions when there was no need for it. Any ground lost in mid-field is just as costly in the matter of yardage as anywhere else. Dover, for instance, was punching across the mid-field stripe and then booting out of bounds around Salem's 15 to 20-yard zone.

In that position, the Quakers didn't have much choice in the matter of plays. In other words, they couldn't take any chances, with a seven-point lead. And that was one reason for Dover's 11 first downs against Salem's three.

DiAntonio Still Out
Center DiAntonio will remain out of the lineup again this week and, as a result, the Salem starting roster will be unchanged, no doubt, from what it was last Friday. Mel Wukotich will move up to center with Volko, West and Green as the other backs. Scullion has been looking good in practices this week and very likely will see plenty of work tomorrow afternoon.

Jim Nocera, who got a taste of action at Dover, is also seen as another backfield employee Saturday. Nocera is used largely on offense, his speed being used to advantage. His shortness of stature handicaps him to some extent back of the line on defense.

Although Barborton has won only three out of eight, the Quaker coach certainly does not hold them lightly. "Unless our offense clicks better," he commented, "I'm genuinely doubtful about the result tomorrow."

Barborton to date has defeated Akron Central, 25 to 0; Wadsworth,

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — Havana has joined the bidders for the Galento-Baer joust... Freddy Smith, who was aboard Kayak 11 in most of his important races, says Col. E. R. Author Larry Kelley, ye olde Yaler, is playing Rugby football with a N. Y. team.

Today's Guest Star
HALSEY HALL, Minneapolis Star-Journal: "Illinois footballers adopted the slogan—'There's no Harmon doing a little running ourselves'.... And if you think the colleges aren't commercial, how about this headline—'Virginia beats Chicago before crowd of $5,000!'"

Hoss Brings Plenty
FRANK DOBSON, one of the finest gents in the football coaching profession, is definitely through at Maryland and is open to offers with this because Frank prefers smaller schools... Victory Morn, the crack two-year-old, sold yesterday to Maxwell Howard for $21,600, brought exactly $8,000 more than the executors of Maj. Earl Parr's estate expected... Earl Sande, the Howard trainer, stopped when the bidding passed the $16,000 mark, but another Howard agent took it up.

Bowl Suggestion
OKLAHOMANS are wishing and hoping and praying things could be arranged so Oklahoma and Tennessee could meet again in one of the bowl games... They say Soldier's field, Chicago, couldn't accommodate the Oklahomans who would just naturally close down business and go to see the game.

Here's the Odds

NINE FOOTBALL TEAMS IN OHIO CLOSE SEASON

College Squads Wind Up Season's Activities Saturday

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—Nine of Ohio's collegiate football teams wind up their 1939 campaigns this weekend in 24 contests involving Buckeye squads. Two others, Ashland and Kenyon, finished a week ago.

Appearing for the last time this week are De Sales, only unbeaten aggregation in the state; Hiram, which boasts Ohio's leading scorer in Bob Bloom; Ohio Northern, Findlay, Capital, Marietta and Oberlin of the Ohio conference, and unattached Rio Grande and Defiance.

Ohio State's rampaging Bucks, No. 1 team in the Western conference, are certain to stay at the top through the weekend, if anything is certain this topsy-turvy season. The Buckeye line is expected to Saturday afternoon parade over Chicago's Maroons on the Lake Michigan waterfront, and the only pregame question was whether the Bucks would win by a greater margin than that to be rolled up over the midway team next week by Oberlin.

Schmidt is Confident
Coach Francis Schmidt said his first-stringers would be yanked from the arena as soon as they could pile up a couple of touchdowns, but even that action was not expected to hold the score down. In previous contests the Buck second and third stringers have been as potent as the No. 1 eleven.

Aside from the Buck-Maroon afternoon test, which the customers are expected to ignore in big bunches, games involving Ohio teams will have little or no bearing on the championship races. Muskingum has the Ohio conference laurels tucked away, regardless of the outcome with Heidelberg's Student Princes Saturday.

The Saturday Games
Ohio State at Chicago, Heidelberg at Muskingum, Wittenberg at Marietta, Denison at Oberlin, Bowling Green at Findlay, Case at Wooster, Ohio Northern at Mount Union, Capital at Otterbein, Alfred at Hiram, Kent State at Western, Princeton-Dartmouth, Dartmouth at Fordham-Indiana, Fordham at Southern California-Stanford, Southern Cal. at Villanova, Villanova at Auburn-Villanova, Villanova at Harvard-Army, Both well beaten, but Army rates the nod. Navy-Columbia: On a reverse. Columbia. Holy Cross-Temple: Holy Cross. Penn-Penn State: Can't pick.

SITTIN' TIGHT IS GREENBERG
Hank Doesn't Know A Thing About Trade Or Salary Cut

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The "sit tight" corner of the Greenberg household in the Bronx is occupied comfortably these off-season days as Big Hank awaits developments on rumored baseball matters ranging from a salary cut to a trade sending him from Detroit to Washington.

"All I know so far," Hankus Pankus explained today, "is what I read in the papers. One story says that I'm going to be traded to the Senators. Another says that if I'm not traded, I'm going to have my salary cut by the Tigers any way."

"Well, the club hasn't told me a thing about either move yet, so I'm sitting tight until I find out what's what."

Frankly, I don't anticipate any trouble with the club either way. It strikes me, just as an opinion, that the Tigers could afford to trade several other of the players more than they could me. Of course, it may be that they've put me on the block because Rudy York can handle first base—and can hit, too.

"About a salary cut—Well, I haven't thought about it. I may not have had such a good year in '39 as the season before, but don't forget the whole club was below par. And a player can't play top notch ball a whole season, if the rest of the club is floundering."

As a matter of fact, the '39 Greenberg record isn't anything to make him hide his head. Big Hank wound up with a batting average of .312, only three points off his hot '38 mark. He hit 33 homers, second only to Jimmie Foss. And he drove in 113 runs. Although that doesn't come close to the 146 he knocked across the year before, you must remember he was out three weeks in the past season.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—Two-team rotation that has worked so successfully this season for unbeaten Duquesne will be continued Saturday against North Carolina State college, Coach Buff Donnell said upon his departure with 35 players for the battle scene.

Barker Scans Football Dope Sheet, Picks Winners, Maybe

By HERB BARKER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Being the seventh chapter of the weekly football guessing contest: Texas A. and M.—Southern Methodist: S. M. U. has revealed a sturdy defense, but the Mustangs seem to lack Texas A. and M.'s all-around power and class. The nod goes to the Aggies.

Tulane-Alabama: This may be Tulane's toughest test thus far, but we'll stick to the Green Wave. Michigan-Minnesota: The little brown jug at stake. The Illinois debacle revealed Michigan weaknesses that few, if any, even suspected existed. But Minnesota has been no football bargain this year, Michigan.

Upset? Well, Maybe
Iowa-Notre Dame: With Nile Kinnick pitching, this might be the spot for the well-known upset, but we'll stick to Notre Dame. Cornell-Colgate: There are some who believe the Cornell are bound to get knocked off somewhere along the line. Voicing disagreement, the vote goes to Cornell. New York university-Missouri: The coin falls and says N. Y. U. Princeton-Dartmouth, Dartmouth Fordham-Indiana, Fordham Southern California-Stanford: Southern Cal. Auburn-Villanova: Villanova. Harvard-Army: Both well beaten, but Army rates the nod. Navy-Columbia: On a reverse. Columbia. Holy Cross-Temple: Holy Cross. Penn-Penn State: Can't pick anybody except Penn.

Michigan-Minnesota Game at Ann Arbor Saturday Should be One of Best

(By Associated Press)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 10.—Michigan's Wolverines will collide with Minnesota's Gophers here tomorrow in what should be one of the most fiercely fought football battles of the year—for more reasons than those behind the "little brown jug" tradition.

The Wolverines last Saturday were upset by Illinois, the defeat wrecking Michigan's hopes for national honors and possibly robbing them of the Western conference title. And as Michigan's hopes collapse at Champaign that afternoon there was a "third team on the field—Minnesota."

There is little question that the Wolverines were thinking too much of the Gophers as they stumbled pitifully before the inspired Illinois—and that isn't taking a thing away from Bob Zupke's team. But Michigan, after four easy wins, was pointed for the always tough Gophers and took an Illinois victory for granted—the result being one of the most stunning upsets in years in the Big Ten.

In addition to his desire to recapture "the jug" and make up, in part, for the Illinois defeat, Michigan has another reason for wanting to hang one on Minnesota. The Gophers now have won five consecutive games from the Wolverines. Last year Minnesota handed Michigan its lone defeat, by a 7-6 margin, the loss depriving Michigan of the conference title as the Gophers went on to the championship.

Moreover, Michigan's Tom Harmon faces the chance of regaining some of the prestige he lost at Illinois. He was a great back against Michigan State, Iowa, Chicago and Yale, then mediocre against the Illinois. A great day against the Gophers would enhance his chances for all-America selection.

On the Minnesota side of the picture lies the fact that the Gophers possessed a fine offense and weak defense, have lost three of their last four games—a record indicative of the sad days of which the Bernie Berman regime has fallen. But a win tomorrow over Michigan would go far toward wiping out the memory of defeats by Nebraska, Ohio State and Northwestern and a tie with Purdue.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads will tell you where.

LEETONIA SET FOR GAME WITH CLASS A FITCH

Blue and White Will End Campaign Saturday On Home Grid

LEETONIA, Nov. 10.—Leetonia High school's scrappy football outfit will be host to a powerful team from Fitch High school of Austin, Minn., here Saturday afternoon.

Fitch, while boasting a well-balanced ball club, has two particular threats in Halfbacks Knight and Hood.

A large crowd is expected to turn out for the game, which will begin at 2:15.

Leetonia and Fitch have been beaten only once this season. Leetonia, a Class B school which already has captured the Class B championship, lost to East Palestine, Class A school. Fitch suffered a setback at the hands of McDonald recently.

The Leetonia lineup tomorrow will include Nicolette and Gudat at the halfback positions, Stump at fullback, quarter, Reese and Carter at ends, Murphy and Altomare, tackles; Webster and Davis, guards; and Johnson at center.

WAR FIFTH ERA IN ALL HISTORY

Present Conflict Listed
As One of Five Major Periods

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—The present war is one of five major periods in history since man first began knocking his neighbor around with a club, according to Dr. Constantine Panunzio, professor of sociology at the University of California.

Dr. Panunzio, author of "Major Social Institutions," lists these five major war periods:

- 1—Ancient times when war was a part of the daily routine.
- 2—The era of the Roman Empire, when there was a partial realization that war should be controlled. Rome unified the western world and created a 200-year peace.
- 3—The rise of Christianity and Mohammedanism which directly contributed to warlike activities for several centuries—in spite of sporadic efforts of kings and popes to suppress war.
- 4—The close of the 15th Century to the beginning of the World War, during which the rise of Protestantism and the clash of imperial ambitions brought several centuries of war.
- 5—The beginning of the World War to the present time, which has included the Ethiopian and Albanian conquests, the war in Spain, the Far Eastern conflict and the expansion of German Nazism.

Panunzio finds that the present war period is characterized by two phenomena.

"Whereas during previous periods," he states, "the will of the personal monarch or of a small ruling clique was sufficient to plunge countries into war, today the declaration of war with most countries rests with the people."

"The second phenomenon consists in the growing employment of propaganda by the governments as a means of forming the sentiments, opinions and prejudices of the people into compliance with the aims of the rulers."

Barons To Face Rambler Squad

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—The powerful Philadelphia Ramblers, smarting from two successive defeats, will be seeking their first victory of the current hockey campaign Saturday night when they collide with the Cleveland Barons at the Arena.

In addition, the Quaker City lancers, are out for sweet revenge. It was just last spring that Coach Bill Cook's outfit trampled over the Philadelphia lancers in the playoffs to win the league championship.

Ten of the victims still remain on the roster. These include Freddie Best, Gardiner, Captain Alec Levinsky, Bill Allum, Bobby Kirk, Hugh Gustafson, Cliff Barton, Lloyd Roubell, Babe Tapin, Joe Krol and Lude Wareing.

Coach Herb Gardiner of the Ramblers will offer six new faces. Chief interest among the newcomers will center around Herb Foster, who led the eastern amateur league in scoring for three successive years, and Johnny Polich, 200-pound right winger who gained All-American mention in football while at Loyola U. of California.

In past years the Ramblers have run roughshod over all opposition from the very crack of the gun. This season tells a different story. The Barons helped Philadelphia make an inauspicious debut by defeating them 2 to 1 in the opener. Last Wednesday the Pittsburgh Hornets took the Ramblers into camp, 5-4.

Bill Cook, Barons coach, is standing pat on his lineup and has spent a week in attempting to give the Cleveland scoring machine a little polish. Cleveland-Philadelphia games have always developed into hard-fought, hard-fought, hard-fought.

And you can rest assured that the pucksters who represent the City of Brotherly Love will be there with the usual chips on their shoulders.

MACHINES REAP CORN HARVEST

Mechanical Men Replace Corn Huskers In Fields

WASHINGTON.—Corn huskers who harvest the nation's vast corn crop and prided themselves on their skill are being supplanted by machines.

The agriculture department estimated that a considerable part of this year's 1,500,000-bushel corn crop would be harvested by the 70,000 mechanical corn pickers on farms. In 1920 there were only 10,000 such pickers.

Last year about 43 per cent of the corn acreage in Illinois was harvested by mechanical pickers and about 35 per cent in Iowa and Minnesota. This year the percentage in these principal producing states will be larger.

The department's estimate for other corn states showed mechanical pickers harvested 22 per cent of the crop in Indiana, 18 per cent in South Dakota, 12 per cent in Iowa, and about 5 per cent in Michigan, North Dakota and Wisconsin.

Great Labor Saving
Adoption of the power take-off, the wagon hitch and the mounted picker are improvements which led farmers to purchase 29,000 mechanical pickers during the past two years, the department said.

Used mainly on the most productive corn acreage, the pickers last year covered about 13 per cent of corn acreage in the nation, but gathered about 20 per cent of the crop, the department said.

The department estimated that the one-row picker results in a saving of one-third in labor costs.

Actress Abducted?

and that the two-row picker saves half on labor costs. A one-row picker will harvest 80 to 100 acres of corn.

M. D.'S INSURE IN CALIFORNIA

Physicians Offer Insurance At Moderate Prices

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—California's medical profession believes it has successfully met the challenge of "socialized medicine," by voluntarily organizing and offering medical insurance at prices within the reach of almost everyone.

Although the plan is only a few months old, the number of participating physicians and the number of working groups of five or more persons who have accepted the medical insurance services available insure the ultimate success of the project, officials declare.

The service was organized by the California Medical Association. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, was first president. Compulsory insurance bills already had been defeated in the state legislature. The new plan is known as the California Physicians Service.

Already 2,500 California physicians have joined. Eventually 5,000 physicians and surgeons are expected to enroll.

Group Plans
Under the system which is now in full operation, two "medical insurance" plans are offered to all groups of five or more persons. One plan costs $2 a month and entitles members to the service of any one of the enrolled physicians for a maximum of one year on any one illness and 21 days of hospitalization for any one illness.

The patient may choose any hospital he desires from those of the three major hospital associations in the state.

This plan, however, does not cover the physicians' fees for his first two visits.

Under the second plan the patient pays $2.50 a month which entitles him to all services included in the first plan and also covers all the fees of the physician. Both systems are working satisfactorily.

"KNIGHT ERRANT"

by Jack McDonald

SYNOPSIS

Heather Mills' world tumbled about her when her father's thoracic aneurysm, "Coronado," breaks his back while running in the Santa Anita Handicap and Dan Mills, the veteran sportsman, succumbs to pneumonia but really from a broken heart. Charlie Bassitt, a gambler, had taken Coronado to the racing barn the day of the race. Bassitt had backed the horse. Therefore, gossip was rife that Coronado's "accidental" death had lost wages all on "Coronado" and lost were "Slim" and "Snapper" Maynard, whose horse owned a string of thoroughbreds, and his friend, Snapper Elliott, a typical tout. Slim stayed from track to track, because in the money but more because he got people wondering at the friendship between the cultured Slim and the uncouth Snapper. Heather goes back to her father's Carmel Valley farm where a colt, named by Coronado, is born. As Heather looked at the ungainly creature, she visioned great races and a reincarnated Coronado. She named the colt "Knight Errant." In the meantime, Slim and Snapper were doing fairly well at Tanfuran. One day, they go to court to hear the case of Sol Berg, a tailor against "Foots" O'Day for non-payment of a bill. "Foots" owns two new good players, "Susie" and "Cold Cream," which he had named over to Berg in lieu of cash, but continued to get back again.

CHAPTER VII

"Which do you want, your name back or the horses?" asked Heather. "The money for my suit and overcoat," Mr. Sol Berg said. "These horses are too much and never win a race." "Turning to 'Foots' O'Day, the judge asked if he had the money to pay his tailor bill. Dejectedly the latter said, "No." "During the six years they had sneezed around" together, Snapper had been after Slim to buy a stable. Owning one, he thought, would identify him as a horseman, and thus lend more tone of authority when he recommended certain "good things" to his clients.

"Buy 'em, Slim!" Snapper whispered. "You can get 'em cheap." Slim stood up. He was grinning. "Your Honor I'll buy the horses," he offered.

And his offer was approved by Judge Berg. "Foots" O'Day, His Honor and Snapper, Slim peeled off five century notes—$300 for the color and $200 for "Foots"—and walked out of the courtroom holding the bill of sale for two unknown entities—to wit, Susie and Cold Cream, platters, plugs, etc. etc.

"Let's hustle out to Tanfuran and look 'em over," Snapper said. "Half an hour later the grin on Slim's lean face was wiped away.

"Take a gander at this one," he pointed, pointing at the skinny little mare known as Susie. "You can hang your hat on her flanks." "And Snapper was thinking of 'all the hay Susie was going to lap up' before eating her racing legs back into condition. Cold Cream, they discovered was a 5-year-old maiden which had arrived in the snow hole (third place and money) once in her life largely due to a fluke.

"You saved him, Heather," declared the veterinarian after her all-night vigil over the ailing Knight Errant.

"Where'd you get those Mexican antlers?" in a five-n-ten bargain basement?" scoffed Charlie Bassitt as Slim and Snapper led them by on a rope to the new Versatile Stable.

"Wait until you see 'em run," Slim countered bravely. "What makes you think they can run?"

The dimple in Slim's cheek deepened. "Premonition!"

Premonition—a word horsemen live by.

From the cold's padded stall came the thump of small hooves thrashing in agony. "Colic!" Heather had heard old Dan use the word, in the tone another man might speak of death. It sent her calling into the outer darkness beyond the stable for Artichokes, to take her place beside the frail little colt lying with bloated body and thin legs stuck out stiffly. Madly, with a polo coat flung over her pajamas, she drove through the darkness of the Carmel Valley road.

She found old Doctor Boley and drove him back to the farm.

"Knight Errant is dying. You must save him. He's Knight Errant. Coronado's colt."

Later the old veterinarian who had known her father said, "You saved him, Heather. Speed in these cases—means more than skill."

But she wouldn't tell Artichokes until the time came.

At Bay Meadows, Slim and Snapper, co-proprietors of Cold Cream and Susie, decided to race them under the name de course of the Versatile Stable.

Slim pronounced it versa-teal, as in duck, and Snapper versa-tile, as in brick.

The only thing versatile about them was that Susie had to have a pasteboard track to run on and Cold Cream couldn't raise a gallop in anything but mud.

Susie was touched in the wind, but could go five-eighths of a mile at top speed if the air was clear and there wasn't any breeze. She had won a few cat-hops in her time around the cracker-box half-mile tracks of the leaky roof circuit.

Cold Cream was a 5-year-old maiden with a bad knee that looked like a casaba melon.

It was Getaway Week at Bay

Meadows and it found Slim and Snapper in debt to the hotel, the feedman, and with shipping money to Santa Anita not even remotely perceptible in the offering.

There was a five-eighths cat-hop in the condition book which Susie, able headliner of the Versatile Stable, would fit into nicely. But when Slim walked into the tack-room Tuesday morning he found Snapper looking melodramatic.

"The dog bit Susie!" gasped Snapper.

"What are you driving at?" Slim asked, puzzled.

"I'm talking about bad news, Slim."

"Well, bad news travels fast, and that's what we want Susie to do today, isn't it?"

"You don't understand, Slim. Fluff! The stable dog! He bit Susie on her ankle this morning. She'll be on the shelf the rest of the meet."

Just then fate obliged with some quick service, for it started to rain. Cold Cream had been in the barn for months just waiting for rain.

There was some trouble filling the entries for Wednesday. The prima donna horses of the handicapper division were afraid of getting their feet wet and to fill the card Secretary M. H. Morrison had to hang out a race for non-winners.

Thirty-seven old jalloppies like Cold Cream were just itching to get in this race and when they drew the entries, Cold Cream was among the twelve starters.

Snapper had a little dentist with a mustache all stacked away and primed to win a big bet on the "get away special." Snapper had been building up for days.

This was it. Cold Cream, thought, Snapper.

CLEVELAND—Robert Stumac, of Barberton, had seen only half the Notre Dame-Navy game when police, who said he was intoxicated, led him out of the Cleveland stadium. Said the judge: "I believe you were punished enough by not seeing the last half of the game. Costs are suspended."

"The dimple in Slim's cheek deepened."

"Premonition!"

Premonition—a word horsemen live by.

Premonition it was that drew Heather from her bed late one night this June and sent her to Knight Errant's stable, near the farm house. The salt wind whipping around Point Lobos stung through the thin silk of her pajamas, and she pulled back the sliding door.

From the cold's padded stall came the thump of small hooves thrashing in agony.

Coit! Heather had heard old Dan use the word, in the tone another man might speak of death. PRIZE COURTS OF WORLD WAR

Archives Filled With Numerous Accounts of Captures

LONDON—The archives of the Prize Court, which passes on the disposition of contraband cargoes and vessels seized under the British blockade, are filled with accounts of many thrilling captures and bizarre incidents of the past.

During the last war, thousands of tons of grain, coffee, ores, phosphate rock, nitrates of soda, hides, petroleum, vegetable oils, salt, copper, aluminum, lead, bacon, meat, fruits, cocoa, rubber, fertilizer, tobacco, machinery, brick, tools, coal and chemicals were seized.

Some unique cargoes also fell under the authority of the court. One was a consignment of snakes, alligators and frogs for the Berlin zoo. They were condemned as enemy property and exhibited as prisoners of war.

There was a shipment of human hair from China destined for wigs for German women, and a long argument whether sausage skins were food. When the counsel produced an exhibit of the slimy sausages for sausages the court observed:

"Take them away, certainly not."

Some of the difficult cases before the court concerned the shipment of goods for Germany through Denmark. Some 73,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs, rubber and hides, and land were consigned from New York to Denmark. This quantity represented 13 times the normal shipment of goods via this channel. The entire cargoes were condemned as destined for the enemy. Nearly 40 lawyers were engaged in arguing these cases.

Role of Neutrals

The importance of trade carried on by Scandinavian countries, the United States and Latin American republics in relationship to the war was disclosed by the proceedings of the court. The task of the court was made difficult by various devices adopted to hide the fact that cargoes were destined for Germany. The principal means was the setting up of neutral agencies, but in many cases cargoes carried in neutral ships for neutral ports were condemned.

Throughout the war not a single life was lost on merchant vessels subjected to search or detention by the British navy.

Forty-one prize courts were constituted throughout the empire, but the chief court was in London. Some very long and involved judgments were given by Sir Samuel Evans and Lord Merivale, who presided during the war.

Gross proceedings from cargoes sold amounted to more than $30,000,000. Eighty-one German vessels were condemned and 73 vessels were detained until after the war. Vessels sold yielded some $2,000,000.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

Patrolman Harry Williams, of the New York City mounted police force, receives the championship cup in the special three-gaited event for New York policemen's mounts in the National Horse Show in Manhattan.

HERE'S why Lipton's is America's most popular tea:

PRIZE COURTS OF WORLD WAR

Archives Filled With Numerous Accounts of Captures

LONDON—The archives of the Prize Court, which passes on the disposition of contraband cargoes and vessels seized under the British blockade, are filled with accounts of many thrilling captures and bizarre incidents of the past.

During the last war, thousands of tons of grain, coffee, ores, phosphate rock, nitrate of soda, hides, petroleum, vegetable oils, salt, copper, aluminum, lard, bacon, meat, fruits, cocoa, rubber, fertilizer, tobacco, machinery, brick, tools, coal and chemicals were seized.

Some unique cargoes also fell under the authority of the court. One was a consignment of snakes, alligators and frogs for the Berlin zoo. They were condemned as enemy property and exhibited as prisoners of war.

There was a shipment of human hair from China destined for wigs for German women, and a long argument whether sausage skins were food. When the counsel produced an exhibit of the almy sausages for sausages the court observed:

"Take them away, certainly not." Some of the difficult cases before the court concerned the shipment of goods for Germany through Denmark. Some 73,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs, rubber and hides, and lard were consigned from New York to Denmark. This quantity represented 13 times the normal shipment of goods via this channel. The entire cargoes were condemned as destined for the enemy. Nearly 40 lawyers were engaged in arguing these cases.

Role of Neutrals

The importance of trade carried on by Scandinavian countries, the United States and Latin American republics in relationship to the war was disclosed by the proceedings of the court. The task of the court was made difficult by various devices adopted to hide the fact that cargoes were destined for Germany. The principal means was the setting up of neutral agencies, but in many cases cargoes carried in neutral ships for neutral ports were condemned.

Throughout the war not a single life was lost on merchant vessels subjected to search or detention by the British navy.

Forty-one prize courts were constituted throughout the empire, but the chief court was in London. Some very long and involved judgments were given by Sir Samuel Evans and Lord Merrivale, who presided during the war.

Gross proceedings from cargoes sold amounted to more than $30,000,000. Eighty-one German vessels were condemned and 73 vessels were detained until after the war. Vessels sold yielded some $2,000,000.
